

She gets her adrenaline pumping by skiing the most challenging back country trails, hiking the grand canyon in a day, or decorating extreme Christmas cookies.

RPI Project Coordinator

It's a special kind of rush when you hike from the rim of the Grand Canyon, down to the Colorado River, and back up to the rim in a single day. It's a different kind of rush to be on a mountain skiing an extremely challenging back country trail. Either one might be considered "going out on a ledge" by some, but they both suit Samantha McFarlane just fine. You see, Samantha has a unique outlook on life. For her, it's about savoring every moment, and approaching each day with a sense of humor and wonder.

Two Sides to the Personality Coin

These fun personality traits belie the other side of what makes Samantha tick. She is also meticulous, insanely organized, and able to clearly see the entire playing field. It is this side of her that earns the respect and appreciation of clients she helps as an RPI Consultants Project Coordinator. "I enjoy providing my clients with peace of mind when it comes to helping them learn and implement software," she says.

Background and Experiences

Samantha earned a Bachelor of Arts in English with an emphasis in Creative Writing from the University of Kansas. She also holds a Bachelor of Science in Secondary English Education from Fort Hays State University. She previously worked at Cerner Corporation as an implementation consultant and project manager. There she gleaned experience that she applies to her daily work with clients at RPI. "Having direct experience and insight into what my clients go through is extraordinarily helpful," she notes.

Adrenaline Junkie

Samantha has been an avid skier all her life, and even has a tattoo of the A-basin trail map on her side! "There's nothing quite like the silence at the top of an empty run, or the adrenaline after dropping in," she explains. Another hobby is cookie decorating, especially the one scary snowman cookie she decorated that the family still talks about!
