One day at a time. Focus on what is in front of you. That's Victor Kovalev's approach to life. "I immerse myself in the moment," Victor says. "I try to clear out any distractions or extraneous stuff other than the task at hand." That's how Victor has forged a respected reputation for his stellar work among the team the clients he serves.

Making an Impact

As a Perceptive Content and Perceptive Intelligent Capture Consultant, Victor applies his knowledge as a developer and consultant to help businesses, agencies and service providers to streamline and automate their business processes, reducing costs and increasing efficiency. "To me, that is the challenge I love rising to," says Victor. "I want to see how much time I can save them and how much we can improve their productivity."

Background and Experiences

Victor joined the RPI team after working at Lexmark Enterprise Software. Since 2011, he has gained valuable Perceptive Content knowledge that he applies to his work with RPI Consultants' clients. He brings diverse experience working with a variety of fields and applications, including industries such as healthcare, higher education, manufacturing, insurance, gaming and transportation. He has helped multiple clients with Accounts Payable, as well as custom solutions for insurance companies, gaming audits and payment processing. Victor also has experience with PeopleSoft, Lawson, JD Edwards, SAP and Salesforce.

The Great Outdoors

Victor's favorite way to recharge is to spend time in the great outdoors. For him, cross country skiing in the winter and hiking in the summer are two of his favorite pastimes. "When I am out in the wild I am completely absorbed in the moment," Victor says. "Being away from the hustle is the best way for me to recharge and refocus."
