

Justin possesses a true wealth of knowledge when it comes to technology and automation, but for him RPI is not about products or solutions, it's about the people.

RPI Partner and Project Management Office (PMO) Lead

Justin Braun

rpi@rpic.com

It would be an understatement to say that Justin Braun is open to just about everything life has to offer. You can find him scaling mountains, coaching youth hockey, cooking haute cuisine, or practicing yoga and meditation - all with the same reassuring confidence and enthusiasm he brings as the leader of RPI's PMO. Justin understands and appreciates the level of excellence our clients have come to expect. He explains, "When you give someone the opportunity to shine, it improves both their experience and the experience of our clients. It's really all about giving our people and our clients a good reason to keep doing business together."

Encouraging Autonomy & Personal Development

As a Partner and leader of the Service Delivery organization, Justin strives to give his team the right combination of variety, freedom, and guidance. Justin says, "it's not about telling people what to do, it's about giving them freedom and autonomy to make the right decisions for their clients - but never leaving them to feel alone." That's why Justin rarely has to intervene on projects and spends most of his time channeling positive client experiences into his team's guiding principles. He continues, "It's amazingly rare to find a place where you are consistently rewarded for being yourself, and that really drives the RPI experience."

Background & Experiences

It's probably unsurprising that Justin also has a long and diverse professional resume, which includes culinary arts and hospitality management alongside almost two decades of experience in financials systems, management consulting, change management, and PMO development. Justin's unique combination of skills and experience make him the perfect person to drive the company and our PMO services forward, constantly improving the quality of outcomes for our clients.

Downtime Pursuits

Justin regularly practices "rock & roll yoga" – often with his wife Laura and two sons, Jacob and Gerard. You may find him planning his next mountaineering or back-country pursuit with a rag tag group of backcountry mercenaries known as the "O-Team." Together they are working their way through Peter Potterfield's "23 Breathtaking Treks of the World" – most recently completing the McGonagal Pass in Denali National Park!

Character Strengths

Teamwork, Fairness, Social Intelligence, Leadership, & Compassion

Skills & Competencies

Change Management
Accounting & Finance
Supply Change
HR / Payroll
Project Management

Technology Experience

Infor Lawson
KRONOS
Enterprise Content Services
Intelligent Data Capture
Infor Deployment Method
Level 4

