Baltimore, Maryland // Wednesday, December 19, 2018 // <https://www.rpic.com> – RPI Consultants (RPI) announced today that it will attend and exhibit at the 2019 Legislative Briefing and Reception, hosted by the Indiana Manufacturers Association (IMA) on Wednesday, January 9, 2019, in Indianapolis, Indiana. This event will provide attendees the opportunity to meet face-to-face with legislators and elected officials who make the decisions on legislative and regulatory issues affecting manufacturing in Indiana.

Senior Account Executive and Indiana resident Jim Fall will be representing RPI Consultants and says he looks forward to supporting Indiana manufacturers as they share their priorities with legislators. "Manufacturing is such an important part of the Indiana economy," says Fall, "it's great that IMA is giving manufacturers a forum to share their concerns and priorities."

RPI Consultants works with many of Indiana's largest manufacturing companies to implement enterprise content management and business process automation software for departments like Accounts Payable, Procurement, and Human Resources. "Manufacturers today have to eliminate costs and overhead wherever they can to stay competitive," explains Fall, "implementing software solutions like intelligent data capture, enterprise content management, and business process management lets these companies focus on the important work of creating jobs and products at competitive prices."

RPI has strategic partnerships with enterprise software providers Infor Lawson, Kofax, and Hyland, including extensive experience with Perceptive Content by Hyland. The company provides technical and solution consulting services, which include new installations and upgrades, technical and solution health checks, system optimizations, training and documentation, and managed services.
